

We claim:

1. A method of determining a location of focal spot on a detector array, comprising:
defining boundaries of an integration domain for a lenslet; performing a center of mass calculation with respect to pixels within the boundaries; and correcting for an asymmetry parameter.